Team Strengths Discovery

Strengths-based development is about helping people identify what they do best, discover their greatest opportunities to contribute and use their talents in their work and life to accomplish what is most important to them.

Using the world-renowned Gallup CliftonStrengths Assessment for each member of your team, a certified Learning & Organization Development (L&OD) Department consultant will lead a virtual development session with your team to help them leverage their own individual talents and understand the talents of their colleagues.

Sessions are typically 2-3 hours long, and the cost is typically $20-50 per assessment. Assessments are only needed for those who have not previously taken the CliftonStrengths assessment.
